

Chilean metal band ILL REASONING released the single "Immolation", a death-metal track for fans of Napalm Death, Slipknot, and Pantera. The single was self-produced and continues the band's heavy and aggressive musical narrative.

ILL REASONING's latest offering, the single "Immolation," arrives a year and a half after their self-titled debut EP. This track continues the band's exploration of metal, drawing inspiration from the intensity and raw power of groups like Napalm Death, Slipknot, and Pantera. "Immolation" was crafted in the band's home country, with recording and mixing by Alejandro Espinosa at Neolithic Studios in Concepción, Chile, and mastering by Cristian Rodriguez at 15Hz Studios in Santiago, Chile.
