

The high-speed power metallers, SCULFORGE, have unveiled a new music video for "Kings Of The Battlefield," the most intense track from their celebrated debut album, "Intergalactic Battle Tunes." Released at the end of June, the album has earned acclaim for its robust energy and innovative sound.

"Kings Of The Battlefield" stands out as a power metal composition that challenges the genre's boundaries, crafted for those who find traditional power metal too mellow. The video is now available for viewing on the MDD YouTube channel.

The band dedicates this song to the undaunted spirit of perseverance: "This song is for all those who always get up again, even if life permanently kicks them in the face! In a world that seems to get darker every day, positive songs like this are needed!"
